THIRTY MILLION CASTING BALLOTS

Unsettled Weather Throughout East Not Liked By Republicans But Huge Vote Is Being Cast—Both Sides Confident—Election Machinery Heavily Taxed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Nov. 2.—Approximately 30,000,000 Americans, men and women, are going to the polls today to register their choice for president and vice president of the United States. The number may be greater or it may be less, but political leaders on both sides have agreed that the figure 30,000,000 is a fair forecast.

Four years ago the total vote registered by the two major parties and three minor parties was 18,503,022. Since that time upwards of 20,000,000 women have been enfranchised. How many of these will use the ballot today can only be conjectured, politicians say, but they are hopeful that considerably more than half of them will.

At both Republican and Democratic headquarters today activities had practically ceased. Their work completed, party managers and attachés loafed about speculating, figuring and receiving reports by telephone and telegraph from all over the country.

Election day dawned cloudy, and muggy in many parts of the country. The weather bureau warned that voters east of the Mississippi would have to brave rain to cast their ballots. Generally unsettled weather was reported from many states. The weather reports did not do much favor at National Republican Headquarters. National chairman Will H. Hays has frequently declared that Republican hopes of carrying mountain border states, like Kentucky and Tennessee, rested on fair weather, so that the mountain districts, which are predominantly Republican, could get their votes to the polls.

The final day found both Democrats and Republicans breathing confidence at their national headquarters. Chairman Hays asserted that Harding's election could be accomplished with 363 electoral votes, with a strong probability that he will run up to 395. At Democratic headquarters Chairman George H. White and his co-workers for Governor Cox were equally assertive that Governor Cox is going to win a great moral issue.

Casting aside the claims of both sides, neutral observers were generally agreed that the result of the election hangs on the so-called doubtful states, such as Indiana, Missouri, Colorado, Connecticut, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, New Jersey, Ohio, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and Utah.

The candidates themselves spent the momentous day quietly at their homes—Governor Cox at his rural retreat at Trail's End, near Dayton, and Senator Harding at his Mount Vernon avenue residence in Marion, from which he has conducted the major part of his campaign.

Of the minor party campaigns, one, Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist nominee, spent November 2 behind the bars of the federal prison at Atlanta, from which he issued a final plea to the voters to vote for the "emancipation of the working classes." There was considerable speculation among leaders of the old parties as to how the votes of the Socialists, the Farmer-Labor ticket, headed by Parley P. Christensen, and the Prohibitionists, led by the Rev. Aaron S. Watkins, would run.

Early reports to both Republican and Democratic headquarters indicated that the vote in populous centers, the cities and thickly populated rural communities was getting out early. In New York the polls opened at 8 a. m. and there were lines of voters waiting before the polling booths in many places. The proportion of women among the early birds was heavy.

In New England, too, early reports showed an unusually heavy early vote, with many women eager to cast their ballots for the first time.

Leaders on both sides were fearful that the election machinery in many parts of the country would prove inadequate to meet the demands made upon it. Universal suffrage increased the number of voters in the United States by anywhere from 50 to 100 per cent, with no corresponding increase in the facilities to take care of it. Party workers declared that this may make the returns slow in getting in tonight.

CONGESTED POLLS

Came Extension of Voting Hours in One Town.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, Nov. 2.—With hundreds of voters, many of them women standing in long lines for hours at the polling booths of greater Boston, a movement to extend the hours of voting to the limit of the law, 7 p. m., was started by Assistant Secretary of State Bayne. In addition it was suggested that all persons in line at 5 p. m. be permitted to cast their ballots, although the law directs that only those inside the hall at the closing time shall be admitted. Refuse was the first community to follow the suggestion and extend the voting time. This action being followed by other places.

Chicago Markets Slow.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Nov. 2.—All markets except the live stock and produce exchanges were closed here today, election day.

THIEVES ENTER TWO STORES

Some time during the night the dry goods store of Samuel Pernet at No. 67 Hasbrouck avenue, and the grocery store of Lewis Paul at No. 61 Meadow street, were broken into and cash stolen from the cash registers. From what could be learned the thieves did not obtain a large amount of money from either store. Evidently the stores were made in practically the same way. At the Pernet store a pane of glass was broken in one of the rear windows, the window unlocked and pushed up, and the thief crawled through. Entrance to the Paul store was obtained the same way. It would look as though the burglaries were the work of the same gang. At the Paul store, in addition to the small amount of money stolen, the thieves helped themselves to cigarettes.

QUIET ELECTION WITH HEAVY VOTE

Election Day is passing quietly in Kingston with indications that of the little over ten thousand men and women who registered practically every vote will be cast. The polls opened at 6 o'clock this morning closing at 6 o'clock this evening. A heavy vote was polled during the morning hours in all of the districts.

Chief Wood of the police department had made arrangements for handling the situation at all of the polls. In addition to the regular members of the force deputies were sworn in and served during the day. Those on duty at the various polls were:

- First ward, John Finn.
- Second ward, first district, I. A. Britt; second district, Officer Peter J. Camp.
- Third ward, first district, Chief Wood, Sergeant Hauley and Officer Burger; second district, Marion E. Beardsley.
- Fourth ward, first district, Officer P. J. White; second district, Marvin S. Whittaker.
- Fifth ward, Officer George H. Gess.
- Sixth ward, first district, Officer Andrew W. Walker; second district, Officer Winfield Entrott.
- Seventh ward, first district, Officer Robert F. Healey; second district, Peter Keresman.
- Eighth ward, Isaac R. Craig.
- Ninth ward, Fordyce Longendyk.
- Tenth ward, first district, William J. Tierney; second district, Charles Simmonds.
- Eleventh ward, Joseph Erena.
- Twelfth ward, first district, Hiram Woolsey; second district, Jasper Kelder.
- Thirteenth ward, William Vogt.

LOCKED OUT, DEMS. PAID RENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Nov. 2.—The Democratic national committee was homeless for a short while today, on this day of days.

When committee employees reached the Grand Central Palace, where headquarters are located, today they found the doors locked. Investigation developed that the rent was in arrears and the superintendent, J. M. Bell, had ordered the doors locked and the lights shut off.

"Tom" Love, of Texas, assistant treasurer of the committee, came to the rescue with a check for $3,000. Officials of the Democratic organization were highly indignant over the incident. They asserted that it was a part of a Republican "plot" and there was considerable talk of bringing charges of conspiracy against those responsible.

HEAVY VOTE IN NEW ENGLAND

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 2.—An extremely heavy vote with thousands of women casting their ballots for the first time was reported from various sections of New England today.

So heavy was the women's vote that polling facilities in many of the congested centers of Boston and other cities proved inadequate. Long lines of voters, with women predominating, stood for hours waiting to vote.

Rain was threatened in the western section of New England. The northern section of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont were blanketed with snow.

Weather Election Returns.

Election returns will be received by special wire at the Kingston Club tonight. Refreshments will be served.

"REDS" CRUSHING GEN. WRANGEL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Nov. 2.—General Wrangel's anti-bolshevik army in South Russia has been decisively defeated and is retreating into Crimea. The point from which General Wrangel began his operations against the "reds" eight months ago, according to dispatches received here today, containing claims of the soviet war office at Moscow.

The news is confirmed by unofficial advices from Constantinople. The "reds" have reached the sea of Azov at Berdiansk and Mariupol. They are now engaged in closing the bottle neck of the peninsula at the northern end of Crimea where they have taken Prokop.

The "red" drive southward from Alexandersk to the Prokop-Berdiansk line represents an advance of nearly 100 miles.

General Wrangel's situation is most serious, said a Constantinople dispatch to the Daily Express. "Terrific fighting continues all along the Crimean battle front."

FIRST TOWN GOES TO HARDING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New Ashford, Mass., Nov. 2.—This town, the first in the country to report on the election today, gave for president: Cox (D.), 6; Harding (R.), 28. In 1916 New Ashford gave for president: (Hughes (R.), 16; Wilson (D.), 7.

New Ashford has long prided herself on being the first community to report. Her citizens mostly farmers, go to the polls at dawn. As there are only thirty or forty votes in the town, the entire electorate of New Ashford has voted, the voters know the result before the rest of the country is astir. Some times a Cape Cod town comes to bat with returns first, but New Ashford is generally in the lead.

Other returns here today follow: For governor: Cox, (R.), 22; Walsh, (D.), 2. Lieutenant-Governor: Coolidge, (D.), 5; Fuller, (R.), 22; Washburn, (Independent), 9. State treasurer: G. H. Jackson, (Citizen), 9; James Jackson, (R.), 22; Patrick O'Hearn, (D.), 1. State auditor: Cook (R.), 22; Cram, (D.), 4. Congress, First Massachusetts district: Cassidy, (D.), 19; Tremblay, (R.), 19. Congress, Eighth district: Adrich, (R.), 22; Murphy, (D.), 2. Beer and wine referendum: Yes, 16; no, 12.

Franklin, representative district Number 2: John B. Locke, (Nomination papers), 22; George B. Waterman, (Nomination papers), 5; William H. Woodford, (R.), 3. Thirty-four out of a registration of thirty-six New Ashford voters drove to the polling place in the country school house today. The absentees were Charles Sherman and Mrs. Mary Millman who were too ill to vote. New Ashford's vote was polled, counted and the school house polling booth made ready for the children at 7:15 o'clock.

Were Closed Today.
National and savings banks, the public schools, courts and city offices were closed today because of the general election.

COX RELIES ON "MORAL ISSUE"

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dayton, O., Nov. 2.—Governor James M. Cox came home today and sat down to await the nation's verdict, confident that when the final tabulation is made he will be acclaimed the victor. Shortly after leaving his special train which arrived from Toledo early this morning, the governor proceeded to Carrington, his voting district, and cast his ballot, following which he went to Trail's End, his country home.

He planned to remain there until evening, when he will come to his newspaper office in Dayton to receive election returns.

"I am confident that the cause for which I have stood during the entire campaign will be victorious today," the governor said.

The campaign has been based entirely on a great moral issue, and in all the history of the world whenever a great moral issue has been presented to the people it has not failed.

"It will not fail today but the victory will not be a partisan one. It will be a victory for humanity and civilization of the world. America will demonstrate that she does not propose to turn her back on suffering humanity, that she does not propose to break the faith with those who sacrificed to end war, and that she does not propose to be a nation of republicans."

"America will keep the faith and be a nation of honor."

Mrs. Cox, wife of the governor, and Mrs. D. J. Mahoney, his daughter, accompanied him from Toledo, where they had gone to hear him deliver the final speech of the campaign. It was exactly 10:30 last night that the governor spoke his closing sentence, which was:

"The soldiers shot to end war; it is your duty to vote tomorrow to end war."

Though Governor Cox had been confident of success ever since what he terms "the turning of the tide" some weeks ago, his confidence was increased today upon receipt of telegrams from campaign managers all over the country. Prominent among these were reports of Governor Barker of Louisiana, who has been stamping the country; Senator Key Pittman, manager of western headquarters; Senator Pat Harrison, manager of the speakers' bureau and former Secretary William G. McAdoo. Mr. McAdoo reported the west "on fire" for Cox and Roosevelt.

IRELAND'S PLIGHT GROWING WORSE

Wave of Violence Follows MacSwiney's Burial—Sinn Feiners Stay Police From Ambush and Towns Are Shot Up and Otherwise Terrorized in Reprisal.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dublin, Nov. 2.—One civilian was killed and a soldier and a woman were injured in a fresh outbreak of reprisal violence at Tralee today.

Both the soldiers and the black and tan police were active throughout Dublin. Supported by armored cars, the troops and policemen made numerous raids and traffic in the principal streets was held up for hours.

The National University was searched and the president, Dr. Coffey, was placed under temporary arrest.

Two "black and tan" policemen were seized at Tralee following a reprisal attack upon the town. It was reported that their bodies were found riddled with bullets, but this has not been confirmed. When the people at Tralee awoke this morning they found the town filled with posters saying that, unless the policemen were produced, "reprisals" such as Ireland has never known before would be made at Tralee and in the vicinity.

Dublin, Nov. 2.—The burial of Terence MacSwiney has been followed by a wave of violence throughout Ireland in which about twelve persons, including half a dozen policemen and soldiers were killed and many villages were shot up or partially burned by the auxiliary police in reprisal attacks.

Reprisal attacks were made by "black and tan" forces, despite the disarmament measures already taken by Sir Hankey (Greenwood), chief secretary for Ireland, to stamp out this form of senseless violence.

Among the communities that have suffered in this latest outbreak are Tralee, West Tralee, Abbeey Dorney, Lissake, Lislovell, Ballyduff, Thurles, Tullamore and Dungannon.

British officials declare the police were under great provocation. Some have been shot down from ambush on their way to country roads.

Sinn Fein officials declare they were compiling documents of what they characterize as the wanton cruelty on the "black and tan" policemen. They charge that the "black and tan" policemen brought down attacks upon themselves by their behavior. The warfare between the Irish Republicans on one side and the soldiers and "black and tan" police on the other is shifting rapidly towards chaos. In another hour the country threatens to become a heap of ashes unless peace is made. The factories are shut down day by day. The people are faced with starvation or emigration. Cities breathe in horror from the fear of terror are eating a strong taste of bitterness.

Cork, Dublin, Queensdown, Belfast, Londonderry, Limerick, Tipperary and other cities are armed camps. There are nearly 50,000 British soldiers in the country.

New forms of terror are constantly being invented. This dreadful situation, Sinn Fein make black revolutions against the military authorities and the latter react with charges fully on hand.

HARDING 55 YEARS OLD TODAY

And Awaits Calmly President Which He Believes Will be Given by People When Returns Are In—Stood Campaign Well.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Marion, O., Nov. 2.—Election day found Senator Warren G. Harding confident of victory. This confidence was partially derived from last minute telegrams from various parts of the country to the Republican presidential candidate, assuring him that the Republican strength was unweakened and would be more than sufficient for his election. He was assured that Indiana, Illinois, New Jersey and New York would go Republican, and weather conditions were not good in the Ohio valley, but the senator expressed his confidence that the rural vote, considered largely Republican, especially in Ohio, would go to the polls since so many of the farmers have automobiles. It was raining at Marion early today.

Senator Harding had completely relaxed and, while a bit tired from weeks of campaigning, expressed his surprise that he had come through in such good shape physically.

Today was the senator's fifty-fifth birthday and he will know by tonight whether the nation will make him a birthday present of its highest office and endorse the policies he has preached during the past fourteen weeks.

The senator rose leisurely, had breakfast and then with Mrs. Harding went to their precinct about 9 a. m. and voted. The voting booth was in a garage and newspapermen and photographers formed a gallery.

Weather permitting Senator Harding planned to motor this afternoon to the golf club at Columbus, for a game with Judge Henderson of that city.

All Marion was in readiness for "a hot time in the old town tonight." If hopes of winning of the Republican presidential candidate are fulfilled, Senator Harding will receive returns at his home tonight with a few friends, including Harry Daugherty, political counselor for many years.

Already hundreds of job-seeking letters have reached Senator Harding's headquarters, especially from men who wish to be postmasters. They will wake up to the fact that postmasterhips are no longer appointive, but come under the civil service. The senator received a letter from a stranger who modestly offers his services as secretary of state, although he confessed he is entirely inexperienced in foreign affairs.

But all this is amusing to the Republican candidate, who naturally can give none of this correspondence any attention until his election has become a fact.

DEBS ISSUES FINAL PLEA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—From his cell in federal prison here Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for president, issued his last appeal today to the voters of the nation.

"Let every man and woman" his statement said, "strike at the ballot box today for the emancipation of the working class. Sweep out the old regime. Dethrone the political tyrants that hold the masses in brutal bondage. Elect each and every Socialist candidate."

"The dawn is breaking. Great history is being made. The future belongs to you. The battle line between capital and labor has been clearly drawn and the issue clearly stated."

VANDERLIP IN MORE "RED" DEALS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Moscow, by wireless to Berlin, Nov. 2.—Negotiations between Washington D. Vanderlip, the Los Angeles banker, who has been in Russia for seven weeks negotiating "most important and extensive" deals with the soviet government, are rapidly approaching their conclusion, it was announced today.

(Note)—The dispatch from Moscow indicated that the "most important and extensive" deals are in addition to the acquisition of 400,000 square miles of Siberian territory (which was announced a week ago).

In view of conflicting stories concerning American prisoners held in Russia Mr. Vanderlip was given full opportunity by the soviet government to investigate. On Sunday he visited Lubyanka prison where he met and talked with Kaldumskov, the American citizen who was sentenced to 2 years for complicity in a counter revolutionary plot.

Mr. Vanderlip said he found Kaldumskov in perfect health.

Rochester Voting Lags.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

SUCCESS FUND FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Considerable interest and enthusiasm is being displayed by the educational authorities and parents of the second federal reserve district in the announcement made by the Hon. John H. Finley, commissioner of education of the state of New York and the Hon. Calvin N. Kendall, commissioner of education of New Jersey, that the educational authorities in cooperation with the government loan organization have decided to extend the savings educational work in the schools and to carry it forward on a larger scale. The savings plan which has just been installed in the schools, parents and educational authorities feel, promises to fill a long needed want in the educational system of this district.

The education commissioner's message which has just been received by the teachers and principals of this city calling on them to help the children accumulate an individual "Success Fund" through the medium of regular and systematic savings is particularly fitting at this time when there is a growing feeling of the need on the part of every growing boy and girl for a reserve fund for a start in life, either by the road of business or by a college or business school education. It is universally felt that under present conditions no matter how much academic knowledge a boy or a girl may possess that a personal "Success Fund" is of vital importance to provide them with the financial foundation when the time comes for them to set out in life on their own responsibility.

Experiments with the penny school savings plan that was in use in the schools during the past two years has convinced the sponsors of the school savings movement that the scope of children's savings should be enlarged. The five cent savings plan has therefore been introduced.

A simple and interesting savings record card has been devised for use in connection with this plan. Children upon making the initial five cent savings deposit with the school teacher will be furnished with one of these cards which contains 80 spaces divided into 16 squares. Upon the fifth deposit which shows that the child has saved 25 cents, the teacher cancels one of these squares and furnishes the child with a thrift card containing one thrift stamp.

In order to simplify and reduce the work of the teachers and principals of schools whose duty it will be to carry out the savings system, a plan has been devised which will require a minimum of effort on their part. Each of the teachers and principals have been furnished with a printed card explaining the school savings system in a nut-shell and it is believed that a careful reading of this card on their part will enable them to proceed with the collection of the children's savings as all unnecessary details have been eliminated.

It is planned to designate two mornings each week for the collection of the children's savings and for furnishing them with thrift stamps. Most of the schools are arranging to have definite hours for this purpose in order not to have the savings system interfere with any other work in the schools.

To stimulate interest among the school children in the savings plan the sponsors of the movement have in mind the creation of a competitive scheme. It is planned to have the children of each grade divided into two teams, each of them headed by a captain—each team known under a particular name such as "Nip" team and "Tuck" team of Grade B, or "Blue" team and "Green" team of Room 2 as may be the case in schools of small districts, the two teams pitted against each other in the competition.

In order to carry out the competitive plan successfully, the government loan organization has provided a simple sheet which is known as the United States government school savings contest score card. This sheet contains spaces for entering the name of the school, grade and class, as well as the name of individual team members. It also has a set of rules governing this contest printed on the face of it.

The interest manifested in the plan has convinced the sponsors of the movement that the savings of the school children the current school year will mount up to a larger sum during any previous year.

Parents everywhere in the district are deeply interested in the building of a "Success Fund" for the children as suggested by Commissioner Finley and reports coming from all over the district lead the sponsors of the movement to believe that this will be a record breaking year for investment in United States government savings securities such as thrift stamps and savings stamps, by the children of the second federal reserve district.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Nov. 1.—Wednesday evening of this week, November 3, at 7:30, a illustrated lecture will be given in the Esopus Methodist Church by Dr. George E. Wright. Stereoscopic views will be shown, portraying "Christian ideals as the foundation of true liberty." There will be pictures of war incidents, of Japan, China, Africa and India, which are all very interesting.

The inclement weather did not deter a goodly number of people from assembling at the Methodist Church basement last Wednesday evening—some on massage and others in their social attire—to enjoy the Halloween social given by the Esopus League. The supper was fine and well served and the financial result pleasing, $24.17 being received. The expenses are trivial, consequently the amount left to be paid to the church treasurer will be satisfactory to the society. The committee wish to thank all who in any way helped to make the social a success.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gans of Newburgh were recent guests of Mrs. Gans's sister, Mrs. Fred Frost. Thursday, October 23, was the eighteenth anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Caroline Horton Ashton and a number of her friends were invited to her home for a birthday party in the evening. The guests were Mrs. O. E. McLain, Mrs. Amy Sheeley, Mrs. Phoebe McLain, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gansong, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Mott, the Rev. R. M. Roberts and Mrs. L. G. Roberts. Mrs. Ashton's pastor, Dr. G. E. Wright and wife, were also invited, but having a previous engagement for that evening they motored to Esopus during the afternoon to convey their congratulations. A sumptuous supper was served at 7 o'clock to which all did justice. Two cakes "graced the board," one decorated with eight (red) lighted candles and wreaths about with red geranium blossoms and rose leaves, the other having the age of the hostess (58) embedded in the frosting, done in small round red candles, also a border around edge of same. The prevailing color of the decorations in the dining room was also red. Mrs. Ashton received a number of gifts including two from friends in Brooklyn. Also forty-one post cards and five booklets. The combined ages of four of the guests aggregated 229 years. At a late hour all bid the hostess good night, wishing her many happy returns of the day.

The Esopus Patriotic Order Sons of America recently increased their numbers with six new members, who with several of the members of the organization went to Kingston for their initiation.

The funeral service (which was private) of Mrs. Selma Sawyer, was held at her late home on Friday last, the Rev. P. N. Chase of Kingston officiating.

Mrs. Charles North continues to improve under the care of Dr. Amy Budd and recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith. Mrs. North's brother is also ill at the home of his parents, and is attended by Dr. Stern of Kingston. A moving van from Kingston conveyed the household goods of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Terpening to their new home, Downs street, Kingston, on Saturday.

Mrs. E. J. Linn and daughter, Mrs. Ricks, also Mrs. Orson Smith of Port Ewen, attended service at Esopus Methodist Church Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Mott and little son, Leonard, recently motored to New York city for the day. Mr. Mott has just received a car load of Ford cars.

Mrs. Horst, mother of Mrs. Percy Mott, is now at Oyster Bay, L. I. She expects to return to Esopus for a visit during December.

Shorty gets an Earful!

Howdy from New Orleans, Pete!

Friday

Say, old clock, you've got the time—maybe you'd like to hear this one! As we were rolling into New Orleans yesterday one of the men in the club car was recounting his cigarette experiences; how he finally pulled a trick on his luck and got set right!

This party told a story about the initiation of a young fellow into a college fraternity and how he was just about scared to death when the black cap and the noose were adjusted. He was advised to say his last word. In a quivering voice he managed to get out: "All I've got to say is that this is certainly going to be a lesson to me!"

"Well, I've had my cigarette lesson," continued the traveller. "I went up and down the line on cigarettes until I got hold of Camels and got deep into their quality and mildness and delightful flavor! There never was a blend such as Camels combination of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos! I'll say it—Camels taught me what a cigarette should be and they'll teach any man who smokes!"

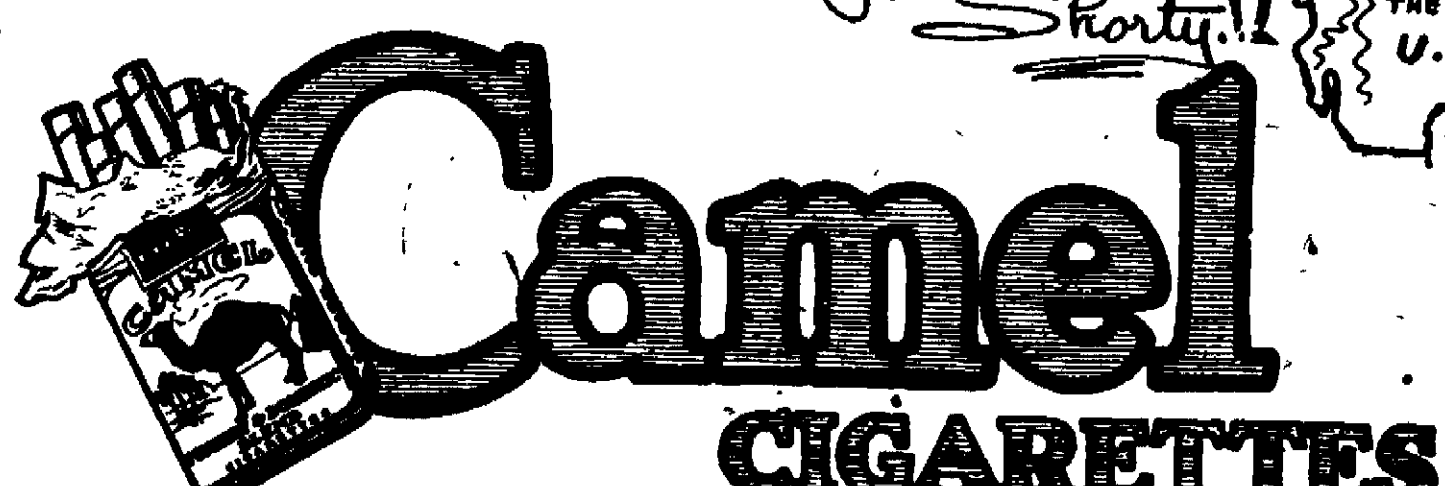

Thinks I to myself—sic 'em, judge, every word is a sentence!

Now, Pete, that's the kind of Camel thanks-giving stuff you get north, east, south, west and through the middle! That's all as true as that little sheep will wag their tails!

I did some tall thinking as I browsed through the quaint old French quarter this evening—how universal the appeal of Camel cigarettes really is! Figure the travelling I've done and the people I've met—each city different from the other—AND Camels have been the ONE cigarette to be found everywhere—and the cigarette most smoked at each point! Pete, old backstop, it's wonderful the way smokers are sliding home to Camels!

Dallas, Texas, for me!

Yours Shorty!

LOUWISCH'S WIFE ASKED REVENGE

Thousand Jewish People Stirred In Poughkeepsie As Cantor Becken Prayer To Dead—Flood Started To Carry On Inquiry Into Case—Note Written Five Minutes Before Suicide Is Read.

A thousand Jewish people bowed their heads in prayer with Cantor Louis Haber of Temple Shomo-Hadath, at Masonic Temple, Poughkeepsie, Sunday afternoon when the latter recited the impassioned "Prayer to the Dead" which touched the very heartstrings of those who had gathered there to express in a resolution their faith in the pure character of the late Shawa Levine, former wife of Joseph Louwisch, head of the Jewish Religious School, and their intention to carry to a conclusion the investigation that was started in supreme court into the character of testimony produced in the annulment proceedings.

Rabinsky and Mrs. Sakow Speak.

Benjamin Rabinsky, uncle of the suicide, and Mrs. Sakow of Pleasant Valley, with whom the girl remained during the annulment proceedings, addressed the meeting which lasted fully three hours, and at the conclusion of which a large collection was taken up for the successful prosecution of the re-opening of the annulment matter.

The resolution presented and unanimously approved reads as follows:

Whereas it has been brought to the attention of the various representative Jewish societies of the city of Poughkeepsie, New York, that in a certain legal proceeding commenced in supreme court a young innocent and friendless girl was made the victim of a detestable rascal who not only deceived her but successfully perpetrated his designs against her for the annulment of the marriage by misrepresentation and fraud—practiced against the good and worthy citizen of our community, all of which is greatly deplored and abhorred by all at this meeting.

Therefore be it resolved, that the meeting having been advised of the beautiful life and high moral character of the victim of this infamous wrong, and confidently believing that she had been forcibly compelled to testify to her own degradation, which had no foundation in fact, desires to record its confidence in her moral and upright character and to express its great sorrow and sympathy to the parents and relatives of the deceased, and the sincere regret that such a great wrong could have been successfully perpetrated in this community.

Further resolved, that the meeting express its confidence in Justice Morschauser in reopening the case and records its approval and commendation of the action taken by the district attorney to prosecute proceedings for a thorough investigation.

In the address of Mr. Rabinsky, the following letter, which he said was written five minutes before the death of Shawa, was read:

"My loving friends: Pardon me that in your home I have committed suicide. It would have been better had I done this in Poughkeepsie. I should at least have been in the eyes of that bandit, after all that happened. I did not tell you all. I beg you shall take revenge, if you can. I beg you to write my unhappy parents at home that I have died a natural death. Forgive me, Shawa."

Throughout the meeting, several statements were made continually that Louwisch has never been a rabbi nor a professor of languages through the son of a rabbi. Bernard Levine acted as chairman of the meeting. The resolution was introduced by Harry Podulsky.

The story told by Mrs. Sakow of Pleasant Valley in substance was: "Samuel Effron and Louwisch came to me at my home in Pleasant Valley to arrange for sending the girl to me and later Shawa was brought to me by Effron. Michael Weiss brought her back to Poughkeepsie when her presence was desired in court."

"While with me the girl told me some of her story to the effect that after she landed at Ellis Island she was taken to a rooming house on the East Side in New York city, where she remained for a day. She said that later she was taken to a hotel for a night and the next morning Louwisch told her she must get rid of her because she was not good. She said she then told Louwisch of a man whom she had known abroad, who although a Gentile had never dared to touch her and who if he knew what you were doing to me, would shoot you like a dog. When she was sent to Boston a second time, after the annulment proceedings were over, she was admitted to tell her aunt of what she had suffered."

Mrs. Sakow also told how Shawa had mentioned that the only one who had been kind to her in Poughkeepsie was Rabinsky, a teacher in the Hebrew School, who is at present supposed to be in Lakewood, New Jersey. He was discharged a month

BLAMES PALMER FOR COSTLY COAL

Senator Calder Says Proposal For Remedy of Situation Comes Too Late to Be of Service to Public.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Senator William M. Calder of New York lays the blame for the coal shortage and high fuel prices entirely at the door of Attorney General Palmer.

"It is reported in newspapers dispatches," he said, "that the National Coal Association, at the suggestion of the attorney general, has called a meeting of mine owners in Cleveland, and that the attorney general's suggestion carries the assurance that any action toward the reduction of prices and the elimination of profiteering would not be construed under the Lever act as an infringement of the law; that the attorney general had assured the National Coal Association that action to reduce high prices, if taken without infringement of certain limitations—which he will communicate to the association—and the necessary discussion thereon by the bituminous coal operators attending the meeting, will not be in violation of the Sherman act or of any other law."

"The high cost of living is one of the outstanding facts of our day. New legislation can do little if our existing laws cannot be enforced, especially the laws against profiteering. For this the nation has turned in vain to the department of justice, presided over by A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general, who, after an incredible six months orgy of profiteering in coal, is now suggesting a meeting of the coal operators."

"Can we hope that Mr. Palmer, at this late hour, will do any better on coal than he did on sugar?"

Senator Calder reviewed the failure of the government to contract for the Cuban sugar crop of 1919 at a low price. He compared the present coal situation with the sugar market of a year ago and continued:

"So ends the sickening story of sugar, for which we have been paying 25 and 30 cents a pound, adding hundreds of millions to the high cost of living, until the market has at last broken of its own weight, and we have today, it is said, 1,263,000,000 pounds more sugar in the United States than we had at this time last year."

"In mentioning the sufferers from the coal profiteering orgy, I should include those dependent upon the revival of construction and should also include the United States government itself as a sufferer. Admiral Benson, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, it is said, recently declared: 'It is outrageous that the government should have to pay $18 to $20 a ton for its coal. He figured coal at the mine at $4 a ton and added $2.50 for dumping and transportation charges. 'Somebody must be getting the difference,' he is quoted as saying. The difference is $14.50 a ton. Selling prices of $18, $20 and $25 have been frequently mentioned."

"Mr. Storow, fuel administrator of New England, told the senate committee on reconstruction of which I am chairman, that the cost of coal profiteering to the American people was $1,000,000 a day, and I have been informed that coal profiteering is costing the gas consumers of Massachusetts alone at the rate of $5,700,000 a year."

"Testimony before the senate committee on reconstruction has set the present cost of Virginia coal loaded in cars at between $2.50 and $4 a ton, with fifty cents a ton a fair profit. One operator said that the average price received by him from January to July of this year for more than a million tons was only $3.20 a ton, yet coal has been sold at $29 in New York harbor and $25 in Boston harbor."

HOW THE WOMEN ARE VOTING

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Reports received this morning by the National Women's Party indicate a woman's vote which will come up to the estimate of Mrs. Maud Wood Park, chairman of the National League of Women Voters, who predicts that 15,000,000 women will go to the polls today and perhaps exceed it.

Two things are being watched with special interest by the women leaders here—the results of the congressional elections and the women vote in the south.

Five women are candidates for the United States senate and about fifteen for the lower house of congress.

At the National Women's Party interest is centered on Nevada, where Miss Anne Martin, prominent member of the national organization, has been waging a picturesque campaign for the U. S. senate as an independent candidate.

The outcome of the women vote in the south is of particular attention because of the suffrage fight there.

The reports received here, based on the suffrage registration records, indicate a heavy women vote in most of the southern states. The negro women are reported active in many sections.

In two states, Georgia and Mississippi, the women will not participate in the election, suffrage having come too late for registration.

The most interesting situation in Kentucky, where the race question has bubbled up and is playing an important part in today's election, is Louisville, the registration of the colored women outnumbered that of the colored men. According to reports received by the Suffrage official organ of the National Women's Party, 12,417 colored women and 12,247 Republican white men and 21,214 Democratic white men are expected to vote there today.

The women of Tennessee, the 26th state to ratify, are expected to vote in equal numbers with the men in many sections and reports show great support of woman Governor Roberts and other candidates marked for defeat by the anti-suffrage forces of their efforts in behalf of suffrage.

COAL $7.50 A TON

From Mines, Says Lovelace—No Excuse For $15.50 Delivered.

Poughkeepsie, Nov. 2.—That there is no legitimate reason for $16 coal in Poughkeepsie, in the statement Frank B. Lovelace says was made to him while he was in Scranton, Pa.

"Nothing to it," declares Daniel W. Wilbur, representing the coal dealers, who says his company is selling coal at $15.50 per ton, delivered, and making 18 cents.

"The coal situation is simply rotten," said Mr. Lovelace today.

"In Scranton I was told by men high in the trade that there is no legitimate reason for sixteen dollar coal in Poughkeepsie. A mine owner told me that the old line companies are still selling coal for $7.50 a ton to Poughkeepsie and all other dealers—but only sending those dealers as much as they sent last year."

"The other coal is being sold to speculators, who are demanding $15.50 a ton."

"I was offered all the coal I could pay for at $15.50. The speculators are getting afraid of a 'break' and are demanding cash in advance. The federal inspectors were there in the coal field the same time I was."

"Nothing to it," was D. W. Wilbur's comment on the Lovelace statement.

Main Idea With Youngster.

A youngster has saved his old sock from the washing machine, and is now using it as a toy. To impress upon the youngster's mind the necessity of being more careful, he is telling his wife in the boy's presence a story of another little boy who, while crossing the street with his dog, saw a car, and was run down by a heavy motor truck. For a brief moment the child sat in deep thought; then he said: "I'd be still the same, if I'd been run over."

Main Used in Building Churches.

At one time the Japanese made use of bricks that in building of which it was the custom for church-going people to give some of their last as a free-will offering when a temple was being built. Such a structure at Tokio had the same and others held in place by one of these human hair cables. Placed end on end the human hair cable measured 4,250 feet long and seven inches in diameter, as fewer than 250,000 persons contributed to the building of the temple.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE TOWN

A Lot of People Waste a Lot of Time Seeking Advice, and Then Go Ahead and Do as They Like Anyway, the Stroller Hears.

"Well, I suppose you have done your duty as a citizen of this great and glorious country," remarked the busy barber as the customer entered the shop this morning.

"I did you know," replied the customer, "and now I am waiting to see if I wasted my vote or not."

"You did not if you voted the right ticket," said the barber with a grin. "Speaking of right tickets," said the customer, "reminds me of the predicament of a mutual friend who was desirous of getting married, and was undecided which of his two most intimate lady friends to ask to accept him for worse or better."

"That would not prove a difficult problem for me," interrupted the barber in a complacent tone.

"He confided his troubles to me," continued the customer, not noticing the interruption, "and I told him he was the one who would have to support her, and he ought to know which one he would rather foot the bills for."

"Foot them is right," interrupted the barber, "for nowadays if you don't keep your foot down they'll bury you—the bills, I mean."

"He kept coming to me for advice on the subject," said the customer, and finally I got tired of hearing the same old song sung in the same old tune with never a variation and told him which one he should propose to."

"And he did not, I suppose," said the barber as the customer paused.

"Not is right," replied the customer, "for he turned around and married the other."

"Everybody seeks advice and but few follow it," commented the barber, "but did he give any reason for taking the other?"

"Oh, he said he had thought over my suggestion," said the customer, "and the more he thought of it the less he cared for it, so he turned around and asked the other fair one to accept the key to his heart and home."

"Well," said the barber, "he at least was honest about the matter, and when you have lived as long as I have you will find that there are a lot of people who waste a lot of time seeking advice they never intend to use."

"You said it," commented the customer, "and that leaves still unsettled the great question as to who is elected."

"And that is settled all but the counting up and announcing the results," replied the barber, "and I think I'll close up and go and hear the returns myself."

"Go As Far As You Like"

To make Troco the world's best nut margarin

Our instructions to
A. E. Hoffman

These were our instructions to A. E. Hoffman when he joined the Troco organization. We said—you have full liberty to go as far as you like—what we want is perfected Troco.

We built him a new factory, up-to-the-minute in every detail of equipment and sanitation.

Now this expert, in this plant, has produced a new and perfected Troco—a fancy brand of nut margarin.

Mr. Hoffman has been identified with the butter business all his life. For over 30 years he has made and judged butter and taught butter making.

This ripe experience has taught him how to perfect Troco, which is churned like butter with snowy coconut fat replacing butter fat.

Famous in the

He gives it the same rarely sweet flavor which made his butter famous in his butter making days.

You want this new perfected Troco—for its fine flavor, delicacy and nutritive value. So order it from your dealer.

Order from

As we didn't ask Mr. Hoffman to meet a price, it may cost more, just as fancy butter commands a premium.

DARING LEAP 25 YEARS AGO

King Callahan Died After Jumping From Poughkeepsie Bridge—Was Buried in Ulster County.

Just twenty-five years ago last Friday the entire population of Poughkeepsie was discussing the death of Patrick King Callahan, 26, who leaped from the top of the Poughkeepsie Bridge, hoping to obtain the world's championship for bridge jumping. Callahan made the leap but died eighteen hours later in the old Deas Hotel.

Callahan was 24 years old, unmarried, and was born in Ireland. Two months previous to his last jump he had been arrested by the Poughkeepsie Police, who were looking for a man who had jumped from the bridge. He was released, but he was going to jump from the Poughkeepsie Bridge. Callahan was a very clever athlete and was a pretty fair boxer, having played four rounds with Bob Fitzsimmons, who was training at that time for a championship bout with James J. Corbett.

Callahan arrived in Highland on the 6:08 train out of New York city. Traveling with him were a couple of sport writers and reporters, John D. Eckhardt and William Lloyd were his backers.

The story that somebody was going to jump from the Poughkeepsie Bridge was circulated in that city the night before and the next morning many rowed to the Highland shore to witness the feat. There was a heavy fog on the river that day.

After leaving the train, Callahan went to a barn near the railroad station and prepared himself for the jump. In an effort to get on the bridge, Callahan told the watchman that the people in his party were all painters, who came to paint the bridge. Callahan walked on the bridge wearing a heavy woolen shirt and a pair of black trousers. He walked 325 feet from the west shore where he prepared to make the jump. After chatting a while with his friends he took his position to jump, hanging by his hands from the bridge. He called to his friends in the rowboats and asked them if they were ready to pick him up.

With a "Good-bye, boys," he let go and was just three seconds in traveling the 212 feet. When within 30 feet of the water Callahan seemed to lose his nerve; his feet spread apart and he hit the water like a shot out of a gun. Not a sound was heard. He was picked up and put into the boat. Groans were the only thing that could be heard from him until finally he struggled to his feet and said, "King's all right," but fell to the floor immediately after. He was removed to Deas's Hotel where he was attended by Doctors Marill and Sheedy. Father Brader, a local priest, was also called. Callahan's friends deserted him and went back to New York.

He died around 11 o'clock that night and was buried in Ulster county.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

"Where are you going my pretty maid?"

"To get a sample of milk," she said.

"The boys will take it after that, and test my cow for butter fat."

"The Farm as the best Home of the Family, the main source of National Wealth, the Foundation of Civilized Society."

No matter how modern the farm machinery may be, it isn't a modern farm if the house hasn't modern conveniences.

Store squash and pumpkins in a dry warm place not far from the furnace in the cellar or near the chimney in the attic.

Uncle Ab says: I always try to keep my work in front of me; when it gets behind and begins to push me, it gets me worried.

Death warrants can be issued on unimpeachable evidence for cows whose records have been studied in cow-testing associations.

The census bureau and the public press, in calling attention to growth of cities as shown by recent tabulations, should remember that no nation can afford to have cities and towns grow at the expense of the country.

Neighborhood club meetings will bring good times again this winter; had you thought of studying together as part of your program? The state college of agriculture at Ithaca has some interesting new suggestions for study clubs. A postcard will bring full information.

HURLEY.

Hurley, Nov. 1.—A birthday party came to little Miss Irene Snyder on Wednesday afternoon October 27. Now birthday parties, perhaps, may not be so very uncommon in Hurley but this party was in addition a surprise party, a complete surprise, although Miss Irene declares that she had an inkling of such a gathering. Some little bird had carried the news to Mrs. Leverich, the school teacher, for tell in with the idea completely, so that when the recipient of the party arrived home, she found her little girl friends ready to receive her with shouts of welcome; these little girls were Sarah Brink, Anna Brown, Harriett Dixon, Ruth Dixon, Mina Malcolm, Ella Pitt, Edith Pitt, Lucille Smith, Nita Snyder and Charlotte Thielpape; Miss Irene herself made up the party of eleven, the number of years of her age. After the surprise was over, games and more games were played, so that the children enjoyed every minute of the time and when the birthday lunch was announced, a little tired perhaps but a perfectly enthusiastic party of little folk partook of this lunch with sharpened, vigorous appetites making this a crowning feature of the afternoon's pleasure; on the center of the table was the regulation birthday cake, a most comfortable, appetizing affair with eleven candles, each one telling a year of Miss Irene's existence; there was also an abundance of good things provided both substantial and dainty with ice-cream as a finishing touch; everything was here appreciated to a finish. All days have an end of course and after many good byes an end came to this most charming and delightful surprise birthday party to Miss Irene Snyder. There was a number of presents given to the little miss from relatives and little friends, keepsakes forever of this eventful day.

The Spook-Witch Convention! Yes, it was some affair and then again some. Friday night, October 29, will be a red-letter date in the catalog of Hurley entertainments. The weather was just crisp enough for enjoyment. The large number of people present reaped a big harvest of fun, pleasure and amusement which will furnish topics of conversation for some time to come. The Sunday school room was tastefully and artistically decorated with appropriate fittings; sheaves of corn were gathered about the pillars in the room while festoons of foliage were hung about the ceiling; the electric light globes were covered with yellow material, giving a very pretty color effect; pumpkin faces were to be seen here and there while the cat, the ever faithful friend of all witches could be found in convenient places. The costumes! Well every conceivable costume was to be noticed so that an enumeration of them all would fill a page; these costumes were almost kaleidoscopic in effect; color of all kinds and shade were present; and as the wearers wandered about the room greeting their friends in falsetto voices, the scene was an ever changing one of charm as well as amusement; the onlookers were kept busy guessing the identity of those in costume and many a disguised personality failed of recognition. After some time, the child which ordered out a grand march and two by two all the costumed, fan-revelers marched about the faces of the children. This march was a most taking attraction and was a capital fan-maker and also gave opportunity for the display of personal touches of fun. After the parade, the marchers sat down and the order was given to unmask and the fan reached its acme as the masks came off revealing the identical hideous faces. The social part of the evening was of course, followed by the presence of the costumes. A program was provided comprising choruses by the entire company and also by the boys and girls; then there were games; the most old-fashioned kind; of course, the most beautiful kind; we put here some of which are: "Hot and Cold" and "Concentration" kept up the amusement; then the lunch; delicious sandwiches and other good things, delicate enough for any special but substantial enough for any modern mortal. As only a true old-fashioned was acceptable, the witch's cauldron was a receptacle for such material and was kept a boiling until it reached over the $25.00 mark. Altogether it was a grand success. This spook frolic reminds one of an old story of Hurley's spook-hole. About Halloween time years ago, a certain Hurleyite was returning late from Kingston (there was no Volstead law then), and as he approached the hole, he looked down the gully and saw the lamps dancing about as the goblins flitted about the flat below; stood a figure leaning against the fence, with his head tucked most comfortably under his arm; frightened almost to death the beholder fled back to Kingston for recuperation and solace and there waited until daylight before he dared to tackle the road again; this was told to the writer and vouched for as a true story.

COOPERATION OF
PA. DAIRYMEN

With the assistance of the dairy division of the United States department of agriculture, the dairymen in Pennsylvania are conducting a cooperative milk-distributing plant with decided success. As the owners are primarily producers and unfamiliar with the business of milk distribution, the dairy division keeps in touch with the work being done and advises the stockholders in regard to the management of the business. Similar assistance is given to other organizations whether co-operatively or privately owned when requested.

The price which the farmers get for their product is determined by dividing the net receipts from sale of milk after deduction for operating expenses and sinking fund, among the farmers in proportion to the amount and quality of milk they have respectively brought to the plant. Starting in July, 1917, with a business of only 500 quarts, they are now handling over 2,000 quarts daily, and have been paying remarkably good prices to the members. The enhanced profits were not the result of high charges to consumers, but of economies brought about by cooperation, such as reducing the number of delivery wagons. The cooperation of producers in one concern has also enabled them better to handle the problems of surplus and shortage of milk. The supply has been kept adequate to the demand, and at the same time the factory has been more uniformly satisfactory than formerly.

Since last February the price allowed for any particular milk has been based on its butter fat content. All milk is expected to have at least 3.25 per cent of fat, and for this milk the minimum price is paid. For every one-tenth of 1 per cent of fat above the 3.25 there is an additional allowance of 4 cents per hundred weight.

THE COSMOPOLITAN TROOPERS.

Written With the Aid of a Map of New York State.

In Russia, Poland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Greece, Sardinia and Malta, they are acting as police.

In Java, Persia, Egypt, Cuba, Chili and Peru.

And Panama and Mexico, they have a lot to do.

They keep the peace in China and they keep it in Versailles.

In Italy and Belgium, Moravia and Wales.

To Bethlehem, Jerusalem and Jericho, they roam.

In Nineveh and Babylon, they make themselves at home.

In Riga, Vilna, Moscow and Odessa, they're espied.

And o'er the fields of Flanders and of Waterloo, they ride.

You meet them in Vienna, Copenhagen, Paris, Rome,

Geneva, Lisbon, Cadiz, Naples, Venice and Luzerne.

You see them in Genoa, Athens, Antwerp and Lorraine.

They traverse Alabama, Texas, Maryland and Maine.

From Limerick to Galway, or from Rotterdam to Ghent—

From Oregon to Florida—they go where they are sent.

They seem to be ubiquitous. Their travels must be great.

And yet, they always keep within the limits of the state.

SEEK TO USE
TIES FOR WOOD

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Nov. 2.—The utilization of discarded railroad ties to help solve the problem of the present high cost of fuel and shortage, will be the subject of a conference called by the Public Service Commission, Second District, at 91 State street in Albany on Tuesday, Nov. 23 at 2:30 p. m., with representatives of the New York Central, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, The Lehigh Valley, the Delaware & Hudson, the Erie, The Ontario & Western and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads. The conference will be in charge of Commissioner J. A. Kellogg.

It is estimated that 200 ties are removed each year from every mile of approximately 20,000 miles of steam railroad track in New York State. The average life of the treated railroad tie is from 15 to 20 years. The commission has considered, in view of the present high cost and shortage of fuel and consequent discomfort and suffering which may result, the possibility of utilizing the discarded railroad ties to help solve the fuel problem in place of the present custom of railroads destroying the ties along tracks, thereby losing their value as fuel.

The commission at the conference will consider with the railroads representatives, the feasibility of adopting some method whereby instead of burning the ties, they may be made available to persons desiring to purchase them or to public agencies charged with the care of the poor, under proper conditions governing their removal, as to safety and convenience of the railroad operation.

POUGHKEEPSIE
WANTS CO. FAIR

After Rhinebeck has satisfactorily demonstrated that the county fair can be made a success if properly handled Poughkeepsie has come to the front and wants it back. Rhinebeck opened its doors and took the deserted child in out of the cold and its blood in circulation when the chances of its passing out of existence as a county institution, were great and now when the bloom once more appears on its cheeks and it has regained its health and grown strong and vigorous from careful management our neighbor thinks it should be returned to the county seat as the proper place for it to abide.

No one cares to have anything to do with a dead proposition and no one craved to adopt the county fair, but in order that it might be saved to the county, we took it in, cuddled it to our breast and nursed it back to life and health. The fair last year was a surprise to everyone and this year's exhibition was fourfold as attractive as the previous effort. It was pronounced one of the best, if not the best ever held in the county, and naturally Poughkeepsie grieves to think that little Rhinebeck put one over on it in saving the institution from complete dissolution.

We do not blame the Retail Merchants Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce for desiring the return of the fair to Poughkeepsie, but we are led to believe from expressions made by many farmers attending the exhibit here that the idea entertained that the farmers prefer that city as the place for holding the fair, as claimed by the merchants of Poughkeepsie, is erroneous.

From the action taken at a meeting of the aforesaid organization Monday night, it would appear that an effort will be made to have the Dutchess County Agricultural Society decide to hold next year's fair in Poughkeepsie. The decision of the directors of the Association will be looked forward to with much interest.—Rhinebeck Gazette.

SEVEN MILLION HUNTERS.

Make This Nation of Nimrods, Say Officials.

This is a nation of nimrods. There are 7,000,000 hunters in the United States, according to the chief United States game warden in the Biological survey, United States department of agriculture. This estimate was made from reports on the number of game licenses issued by the various states.

In 1919, 3,600,000 state licenses were issued, and in addition it is estimated that 3,500,000 hunters are exempted under various state provisions. The returns to the states from licenses was approximately $4,500,000, all of which was expended by the states in administration of state laws for the protection of game. This sum permits the employment of approximately 2,000 salaried state game wardens and six hundred fee wardens. The congressional appropriation for federal game warden service for protection of migratory birds is $142,500, which permits the employment of only 23 salaried wardens.

At its recent meeting in Ottawa the International Association of Fish, Game and Conservation Commissioners adopted a resolution calling for the issuance of federal licenses for hunting migratory birds. The recommendation called for licenses in the form of special stamps to be issued by postmasters and attached to state licenses. It was estimated that the revenue from such licenses would amount to between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000, which could be used for the protection of game.

Hearing On Line Transportation.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Nov. 2.—The Public Service Commission, Second District, will give a public hearing at 51 State street, Albany, on Friday, November 5 at 2 o'clock, on the question of readjustment of within state freight rates on agricultural line under an order which has been served on the steam carriers. It is claimed that because of the recent increased freight charges on time that farmers will cut down the amount of seed, resulting in a reduction of production, it being claimed that their belief by R. H. Howell, manager of the Dutchess County Farm Bureau, that with a downward trend in the price of farm products farmers would not afford to pay the advanced production prices. It is claimed that in certain sections of the state to obtain good crops from 1,000 to 4,000 pounds of lime an acre are required. The importance of lime for agricultural purposes, it is asserted, cannot be over estimated.

TO KEEP SNOW OFF STATE ROADS

For two or three months each winter the northern state highways have been made impassable, or nearly so, by drifted snow, and the hundreds of millions of dollars invested in them bring no return to the taxpayers during the time the roads can not be used. With a view to remedying this condition, the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture has been making this summer a study of the situation with regard to snow removal in the states east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac. An engineer of the bureau has conferred with the highway commissioners in the states in this territory, and reports that definite plans have been made in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois which will result in the main trunk lines being kept open all winter. In some other states, notably in Ohio, snow removal is the duty of the counties, and while the state highway department is prepared to assist the counties in every way and is urging the necessity of the work, it is not empowered to initiate the work.

In some of the states snow fences will be placed for the winter 50 feet from the highway, to stop the snow before it reaches the road. These "fences" which are made of slats, are tipped backward until they form a decided angle and then are braced like billboards. In the spring the sections are unbolted from the stakes and stored by the state highway commissioner until winter. This type of fence has been used by many railroads in the past during the months of snow, and has proved very effective as a snow guard to the road bed.

In other localities snow plows, either horse or motor driven, will keep the state highways clear. One of the most efficient type of highway snow plow has a broad blade, which removes the snow, attached to the front of a motor truck. A second truck chained to the first pulls while the first pushes the blade.

Troop G, Boy Scouts, will be held at the headquarters Wednesday evening at 7:30. All scouts having property of the troop are requested to bring it with them.

CANVASSERS ORGANIZE NOV. 9

The members will be called to order by John A. Nock, chairman of the county board of election commissioners, and sworn in, and later a chairman will be selected. A recess will then be taken and the election returns handed in by the supervisor of each town and ward of the city. The chairman will announce committees on reading, compiling and tabulating the returns. The work will be continued for the balance of the week. The board of supervisors will convene on Tuesday evening and take up the work of their regular session John H. Saxe being the chairman of the board.

Champion Players Receive Glad Hand at Opera House.

Kingston last night made stage acquaintance with "Cappy Erika," the eccentric Pacific coast ship owner, with his fascinating daughter, Florence, and her lover, Captain Penzance, together with other quaint characters who move through that quaint and amusing story. It was a delighted audience, the fact being made apparent by the frequent applause and almost continuous laughter, and by the warm reception Charles K. Champion received when he came before the curtain and told about the program for the balance of the week. There will be a matinee every day starting at 2:30 p. m. In addition to the usual night performance. Tonight "The Day Long Legs" will be presented. Tomorrow afternoon and night Mr. Champion will present Geo. Mink held in Poughkeepsie on charged of assault. Fifty gallons of alcohol and two revolvers were found in the parked car, according to the charges, who were put on the trail by Earl North, a Shantberg garage repair, who claims he was held up by the two men.

At the auditorium tonight Edna Perry in "The Husband Hunter," and another comedy drama. Al Jennings in a wild western story, "Letters of Fire," is also programmed. Tomorrow night Blackwell and Edna Clayton in "His Brother's Wife," a comedy.
